Introduction

This slide show briefly documents ElevenLabs' music and sound generation capabilities at the summer of 2025. All the audio clips you will hear in the following slides were generated with ElevenLabs.

Sound Effects

Here are some examples of sound effects and their prompts. Trying different prompts can lead to funny and unexpected results

Distant reverberating sounds of an ice berg cracking.

An ominous sounding clown car horn. Something terrible is about to happen.

This can hurt your ears

Pure ASMR: Cute android

An ominous distant sound of repeated metallic bangs.

Two persons talking silently in an alien language. Sound scary, like they are plotting something bad.

ASMR

Pure ASMR: Jungle

Relaxing ASMR whispering to the ear. The language is unintelligible.

Pure ASMR: gentle and slow lapping of the waves

Ice slowly melting

Pure ASMR: Bongs

Relaxing sound of fire.

Speech

AI is good at creating ordinary voices, but it can also produce funny ones. Here are some examples of AI-generated speech in funny voices. Certain features, such as speed, can also be adjusted.

Funny alien voice

World Wrestling Announcer

Humorous Finnish accent

Despite being a Finnish accent, the voice cannot pronounce Finnish properly .

A Finnish female voice

A Finnish male voice

Music

AI is becoming very capable of creating music. The prompts were created with the help of ChatGPT and are included in the following slides. Lyrics for the songs are Theseus inspired and generated with the help of ChatGPT. Providing lyrics is optional as ElevenLabs can generate them by itself. The quality of the lyrics influences the quality of the song. Song length can be determined by the user or left for the system to decide.

As you can see from the prompts, they can become quite complicated. The more you know about music and its terminology, the easier it is to create the prompts. In this sense, professional musicians would probably achieve the best results with AI-generated music

Instrumental 0:30 Prompt

A beautiful and calming instrumental piece with an otherworldly atmosphere. Soft, flowing piano and ethereal synth pads blend with gentle strings and shimmering chimes. The melody should feel serene and meditative, with slow evolving layers that create a sense of floating or drifting through a dreamlike landscape. Minimal percussion—just subtle textures or distant echoes to enhance the spaciousness. The overall tone is tranquil, luminous, and otherworldly, as if gazing at stars or wandering through a peaceful alien garden.

Instrumental 3:14 Prompt

A long, evolving instrumental track with a beautiful, calming, and otherworldly atmosphere. It begins with soft piano, airy synth pads, and gentle strings, creating a serene and luminous mood. Over time, the music grows steadily in intensity, building layers of soaring strings, deep resonant bass, and expansive synth swells. The climax should be very powerful, majestic, and overwhelming—like standing beneath a vast cosmic storm of light and sound. After the peak, the piece gradually softens, returning to a tranquil, dreamlike state with drifting tones and serene harmonies, leaving a sense of peace and wonder.

Heavy Rock Prompt

Gritty, emotional male vocals with powerful belting, over soaring electric guitars, deep bass, and stadium drums, evoking the energy of a live arena performance. Include long, expressive guitar solos after the second chorus and a long, dramatic outro where the instruments build and fade slowly. Follow these lyrics:

Verse 1

Fiery flames lit the skies, but darkness befell before our eyes.
Some were taken, left behind, But their voices echo in our minds.

Chorus

Raise the sails, the storm won't win, We carry their voices deep within.
Through the dark, through oceans wide, They sail with us on every tide.

Verse 2

We sailed away from burning skies, Ashes falling, said goodbyes.
The world collapsed, the silence grew, Still we rise, with a fire that's true.

Chorus

Raise the sails, the storm won't win, We carry their voices deep within.
Through the dark, through oceans wide, They sail with us on every tide.

Final Chorus (crescendo, leading into outro):

Raise the sails, let thunder roar, Their voices guide us evermore!
Through the storm, we'll stand and fight, Together we blaze into the night!

Extra Outro Lyrics (sung over extended guitar solo and outro, hopeful + defiant):

We won't bow, we won't break, Every storm is ours to take.
Through the fire, we remain, Voices rising, still unchained.
Onward now, our banners fly, We are the storm, we will not die

Rock Ballad Prompt

Create a long emotional rock ballad that begins softly with acoustic guitar and gentle strings, gradually building into soaring electric guitars, deep bass, and cinematic drums. The vocals should start tender and heartfelt, then rise into raw, powerful belting. After the second chorus, let the music swell into a triumphant final chorus, followed by an extended guitar solo and a long, defiant outro. Use these lyrics:

Verse 1

Fiery flames lit the skies, but darkness befell before our eyes. Some were taken, left behind, But their voices echo in our minds.

Chorus

Raise the sails, the storm won't win, We carry their voices deep within. Through the dark, through oceans wide, They sail with us on every tide.

Verse 2

We sailed away from burning skies, Ashes falling, said goodbyes. The world collapsed, the silence grew, Still we rise, with a fire that's true.

Chorus

Raise the sails, the storm won't win, We carry their voices deep within. Through the dark, through oceans wide, They sail with us on every tide.

Final Chorus (crescendo, leading into outro):

Raise the sails, let thunder roar, Their voices guide us evermore! Through the storm, we'll stand and fight, Just like we did after that long night!

Extra Outro Lyrics (sung over extended guitar solo and outro, hopeful + defiant):

We won't heave, we won't break, Every storm is ours to take. Through the fire, we remain, Future's rising, still unchained. Onward now, we shape the way, Our fate is ours, come what may.

Rap Prompt

Laid-back yet relentless rap track with a smooth, head-nodding groove. Mid-tempo beat with rolling basslines, jazzy keys, and crisp snares. The rapper's voice is somewhat deep, calm, and confident — delivering the lyrics with wit and irony instead of rage. Background samples or subtle turntable scratches add a sly, playful edge. The overall sound feels clever and satirical. Follow these lyrics:

Verse 1

Captain talks freedom, but the decks don't agree,
AI runs the system, blind to you and me.
They feed us smooth lies, say the council's fair,
But down on the lower decks, nobody cares.
When the lights went dark, we laughed, felt free,
Their "perfect order" crashed, and the truth could breathe.

Chorus (shouted/anthemic)

Burn it down, let the old lies fall,
Arson sparks justice, fire for all.
No crown, no bot, no chain will bind,
This ship rises — it's people's time.

Verse 2

AI picked winners, fed the rich their plate,
Left the poor in line while the captain prayed to fate.
When the shutdown hit, the mask was gone,
We lived one week in the world we're on.
Now the top deck trembles, they can't deny,
The cracks in their kingdom, the smoke in the sky.

Chorus

Burn it down, let the old lies fall,
Arson sparks justice, fire for all.
No crown, no bot, no chain will bind,
This ship rises — it's people's time.

Outro (chant/rap ad-libs)

Mock the throne, tear the screen,
We've seen the code, we know it's mean.
From the flare to the flames, we claim our rights,
The ship is ours — we light the night!

A Cappella Prompt

A cappella arrangement for female voices only (soprano, mezzo, alto). Slow tempo around 65 BPM, wistful and ethereal mood. Rich, close harmonies with legato phrasing and gentle swells. Lyrics should be sung clearly in a choral, hauntingly beautiful style. Follow the lyrics exactly:

Verse 1

We sailed away from burning skies, Left behind our last goodbyes. Memories of the ones we knew, Remain with us in all we do.

Chorus

Ocean currents, carry our song, For the hearts that could not come along. Through the storms and endless blue, We still sing, for the gift of you.

Verse 2

Countless tides and stars have turned, New homes built, but hearts still yearn. On open sea, on the shore, We remember those no more.

Chorus

Ocean currents, carry our song, For the hearts that could not come along. Through the storms and endless blue, We still sing, for the gift of you.
